

Green Lake Tube, LLC manufactures electric resistance welded mechanical and structural tubing from our manufacturing facility in East Chicago, Indiana. The operations have been around for many years, but were acquired recently in 2010 by investors with significant experience in the steel industry.

The Company has an experienced work force with over 300 years of combined experience operating the mills. This level of experience and the focus on quality and productivity add up to significant benefits to our customers.

Please contact us to see how we can help you meet your steel tubing needs.